WEYMOUTH, MASS., FRIDAY, DEC. 2, 1910.

WARNING

Many people have been confused by the meaning of Portland Cement and accept any cement bearing the word "Portland". The word "Portland" signifies only the kind of cement, but does not designate the brand. Specify the word "Atlas" when buying cement and you will get the best. One grade of "Atlas" the best that can be made.

In a warrant for special town meeting to be held tomorrow, Saturday afternoon, the Water Commissioners have an article asking the town to vote us to whether they will grant leases to R. H. Smith and Son at the land used for the town water supply. As the commissioners have absolute authority in this matter, the article to some people seems absurd, as no man would grant a lease to his children or strangers to use his home water supply, such as well, cisterns or spring. For that purpose, however, would a good housewife let her best dishes used as wash tubs for soiled clothes?

The Charles River Basin commission has made its final report and it sounds well at the first sound. Eighteen miles of shore from Weymouth to the Atlantic, including a beautiful chain of islands, coves etc etc. No doubt it was a great piece of engineering and as we have said with beautiful results, but the cost figures are $8,992,532.11, and now Mayor Fitzgerald wants to know who is going to pay for it and the contest will soon be on. Weymouth is in the Metropolitan district and comes in for a share, but is it question how many of our citizens will ever enjoy the pleasure of paddling Venetian gondolas along the canals where water will glisten under myriads of varied colored lights? In fact, of the 13,000 people of Weymouth, not one in ten will ever visit the spot or derive any benefit from it, either direct or indirect.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The senior class held a meeting in Room 6 Monday afternoon at the close of school. It was decided to ask permission of the Davis Bates Club Memorial Association that the Board of Trade hold its December meeting at the Memorial Building, instead of a speaker had been invited to talk on Savings Bank business. The meeting was opened up one and a half number of the membership were in attendance.

Visitors at the school this week were Esther Bucknell W. H. S. '10, Mr. Holyoke D. L. Marsh W. H. S. '10, B. N. S. '11; Sup. Parker T. Penney, Maudie Williams W. H. S. '10 and Harry Taber formerly of class '11.

Miss Catherine Brad teacher in English at the school has taken up her residence with Mrs. Anna Lowell of Station avenue.

The football team has closed a very successful season for a team of its size, being defeated twice, winning once, ties once and forfeiting one.

Manager Lowell of the basket-ball team has arranged a schedule of eight games with Braintree High, Rockland High, Abington High, Dover Academy and Quincy High 2nd. The game is to be played at Quincy Jan. 3 with the Quincy High 2nd team.

Weymouth 11.

Monday Club.

The next meeting of the Monday Club will be held next Monday, Dec. 5, in Clapp Memorial Hall. There will be an "Arts and Crafts" exhibit in charge of Mrs. Walter E. Thompson, Mrs. F. A. Andrade, McCarthy will be the soloist. Miss Ethel Shinn of Dorchester, will give an account of "A Trip Around the World on the Steamer Cleveland," and the afternoon promises to be one of the most interesting of the season.

The session will end with a social with Mrs. C. Will Badley as host.

Old Colony Club.

Thursday afternoon, Dec. 8, William A. Spinner will give a lecture before the Old Colony Club on "Health Through Self Control."

Music by Miss Margaret Howe. A social hour will follow and tea will be served by the hosts of the afternoon, Miss Florence Howe.

BAIT FOR SARDINES.

Breton Cox the Tiny Fish With Salted Eggs of the Cod.

Sardines, sardine, sardine, the chief diet in Weymouth. In an average year the Grinnell sardine fisher men catch 600,000,000 to 150,000,000 pounds of sardines, for which they receive anything from $300,000 to $600,000, while the shore industries dependent upon this history give employment to 20,000 other persons. It is the sardine that makes communities in Braintree, every person is directly or indirectly supported by it, and the fate of the fish to come means ruin, starvation and death to many people in the more isolated places.

Sardines are found on the coasts of Britain throughout the year, but flourish in greater abundance in summer and autumn, especially as 100,000 have been taken at one time in one single from one school. One remarkable feature of sardine fishing in Britain is the enormous amount of bait which is used. The bait in general use is the salted eggs of the codfish, and it is estimated that the British fisherman pay 170,000 every year to Norway for cod roe for his bait.

The earliest record of the import or use of which a great deal of the success of the fish depends, is always done by the captain of the boat, who stands on a little platform in the stern and while directing the movements of the boat and the manipulation of the net throws the bait to attract the fish to the surface and around the boat.

When the fish are on one side or the other he next turns to to cast the bait in such a way as to cause them to rush against the net and thus become gilled.—London Pit-Bits.

THIRTY YEARS AGO.

Following are a few of the items which appeared in the Gazette thirty years ago this week. Mr. Leonard Jay sold 67 turkeys one week, at 11 and 12 cents a pound.

Over two hundred and fifty young people were on Raymond's pond last Saturday afternoon, enjoying the pastime of skating.

Levi Torrey, Jr. and George Ruggles have raised two boys together these seasons, and had them killed yesterday. When dressed they weighed ten pounds.

A branch of the Irish Lyceum was formed here last Sunday evening, with the following officers: President, David Tobin; Vice-president, John A. Connelly; Secretary, John H. White; Treasurer, Robert McManus. The society has very flattering prospects of success, fifty-three persons joining the first night.

The evening of Tuesday last, November 29, was a pleasant occasion at the residence of George E. Porter, Esq., on Front street, the special event being the marriage of his daughter, Miss Ethel E. Porter, to the Rev. Lincoln Strode, former pastor of the First Universalist church of this town, and in process of pastor of the Universalist church in Weymouth.

ON THE FARM

You can now plan if not plow, for the next year's crop.

Let him who would move the world, first move himself.—Socrates.

The cold cow gives cold comfort to her owner.

An ignorant, ill-tempered, loud-voiced man should never be tolerated in any stable.

Remember that no animal should stand on a wet floor. It is worse still to lie on one.

Now is a good time to nail loose boards on the barn and sheds and to replace broken glass in the windows.

Train up a heifer calf in the way she should go when she becomes a cow.

Do not neglect to keep the feet of the driving horses sharply shod. It may save many hard wrenches and will greatly add to the comfort of the animals.

When the roads are wet and slushy with snow take more than ordinary care in cleaning the horses' legs and hoofs and wiping them dry.

If a cow has an apple or a similar obstruction lodged in her throat, it can be removed by pouring a pint of melted lard down her throat. This will make the animal strangle and cough, and in the struggle the obstruction will be dislodged.

Those whose cows all "came in" last spring will soon find that the dairy will not "come out" so freely as it ought to when butter and milk are high, because then the yield of the cows will be at the lowest.

A little more corn may be added to the evening grain ration, as the hens will need more heating food. On the farm the winter grain ration consists of two parts whole corn, one part oats, and one part wheat. During the summer only one part corn is given to two parts oats and one part wheat.

The man who looks ahead and who farms with his hands as well as his hands relieves the necessity of buying stock on the place. The dollars and cents he actually receives for their sale, over and above the expense of breeding or feeding, does not begin to show the extent of their profit, for in the maintenance of soil fertility which the handling of live stock makes possible there lies a profit that can not be computed.

On the assumption that the kind of feed and care that will yield satisfactory results with a good cow will do likewise with good hens, a writer in Wallace's Farmer makes this exhortation:

Apply the methods of handling good cows to hens; feed them well, house them well. Keep an account with them and give them credit for what they do. Don't delay keeping an account until you have pure bred stock—begin now. Find the best hen in the flock and grade up as fast as possible.

To get eggs in winter the fowl must have animal food. In the New York Agricultural College experiments were made to feeding cockrels and pullets on a meat ration. The cockrels gained over 50 per cent more than those fed on other rations while the pullets commenced to lay eight weeks earlier than those fed without meat. The great trouble with most farmers is that they are apt to give their chickens one continued feed without change or variety. The feed is the whitewash with the hen, and she can not be expected to lay eggs unless she gets the proper ration to produce them.

The belief that when a cow drinks too much water the milk is poor by excess of water is not at all probable; indeed, it seems to be physiologically impossible, although, of course, no one knows precisely what goes on inside of an animal. But from what is known of the origin and character of the milk it is reasonable to infer that if water is drunk in excess of water passes off through the kidneys and the skin.

Few owners of horses are aware of the importance of keeping the skins of the animals clean. Proprietors of valuable stock usually require their bidders to keep the animals so well groomed that their coats will shine like a new dollar and so clean that they would hardly sell a white handkerchief. This is done to please the eye, the owners usually being oblivious of the fact that by pursuing this course they are using one of the best means to conserve the health and vigor of the animals.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescribed medical advice, and then they will do more harm than good to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., is a good ointment. It is internally used, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure, make sure it is the genuine article, and not a仿制 (imitation). Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists, 95-375 Main St. Take Hall's Family Pills for convalescence.

HAD A MERE TRIFLE?

A doctor calling on a patient who has been very ill, but was now convalescent, said to the latter's wife:

"You must be careful in regard to his diet for a few days."

GATHERED UP.

The bearer of good news always has a pleasant voice.

A sober husband makes a full larder.

Of course a woman can't remember very far back; she isn't old enough.

Let him who would move the world, first move himself.—Socrates.

Mrs. Marsh—Are you going to vote for Mr. Thompson?

Mrs. Mallow—No. They say the other man is much better looking.

A Brockton judge has ruled that when a man is out of a job and his wife has one in a shop, that he must stay at home do the housework and take care of the babies. Why not?

One of the greatest accomplishments to be a good listener. By letting the other man do all the talking we acquire a reputation for wisdom far above that we may gain in any other way.

Not every man who is "charming" and a "good fellow" abroad is a model husband at home. Many a bad-tipping gallant compels his wife to split the kid-gloves.

It seems to be a spirit of interest in the Park. A number of citizens have signed a petition to make that growing town a part of Greater Boston. Others are working to retain the present condition, and others are asking to be put back into Milton from which town they were taken. During the two hundred and seventy-six years since Weymouth was incorporated, there have been continuous efforts for division, sometimes coming from one part of the town and then again from another, most of them unbroken, and but a few weeks ago, the Selectmen presented to the town the Selectmen of adjoining towns and Weymouth has the same geographical outlines as it has in its beginning to date.

W. R. C. Notes.

The next regular meeting of Reynolds W. R. C. No. 102 will be held in G. M. Hall, East Weymouth, Tuesday afternoon, December 13, at 2 o'clock. Election of officers for the ensuing year will take place, followed by a supper and entertainment. There will also be a sale of home-made candies and aprons.

My Carrie F. Lovings, president of the Corps, entertained the officers and some of the members very pleasantly at her home in East Braintree last week Wednesday evening. Games were played and refreshments served. A very enjoyable evening was spent.

Monday Club.

The Monday Club of Weymouth held its regular meeting on the afternoon of Monday, December 5, 1910, at the Davis Clapp Memorial Building, East Weymouth. It being "Aids and Crafts Day," the attendance was very large. The exhibits included a great variety of articles, which were useful, beautiful and interesting. They were, as denoted by the above-named title, all hand made, some of them being more than a century old. It was an opportunity to compare the work of our grandmother's hands with our own, and the two grandmothers did not suffer by comparison. They were many fine specimens of metal work, both in silver and brass. A most promising display of the sewing done by the girls in the public schools, and of the Sloyd work done by the boys, who are also being taught to come up to the mark. Games were added not a little to the general exhibition. The time allowed to examine these numerous attractions was all too short, when we were called to order by the president, Mrs. Harriet B. Wadsworth. After a short business session, Mrs. Frank Pray read a brief description and explanation of our next entertainment, which is to be a presentation of the "Passion Play." Several most interesting word selections were given by Miss Adelaide McCarthy, which were most thoroughly enjoyed. Miss Emma Lang accompanied. The entertainment of the afternoon was a lecture by Miss Ethel Summers of Dorchester. She gave a most delightful and interesting description of her trip around this world of ours in a special steamer, charted by a special company of people. She spoke of the palaces and the hovels, of the wealth and poverty of some of the oriental countries. She also mentioned the jealousy which some of the citizens or inhabitants of those countries have of Americans, notwithstanding the fact that America has been very forbearing and generous when she might have been the contrary. It is not only "Repudiations which are ingrateful." Her audience travelled with her through seven continents of the world, and the awards were made by the committee on examination of these statements.

The largest number of entries was in class 4, for the best young apple orchard of not less than two acres, not necessarily in one solid block, sold to Rev. Nathaniel B. Fiske (of Danvers) for 10 bushels of marketable fruit from a Gravenstein tree, $25; second prize, to C. W. Mann of Weymouth, for 44 bushels from a Baldwin tree, $15; third prize, to Rev. Nathaniel B. Fiske of Danvers (orchard in Stoneham) for 32 bushels from a Wealthy tree, $10.

(2) For the best yield of marketable fruit from an acre of apple orchard, trees in one solid block, sold to Drew-Munson Fruit Co., Harold L. Frost, treasurer, of Littleton for 22 bushels of Baldwin apples, selling for $7.15 worth, a net profit of $29.55, awarded $50; second prize, $30 to Rev. Nathaniel B. Fiske of Danvers (orchard in Stoneham) for 14 bushels of Baldwin apples, selling for $7.50 worth, a net profit of $30.50.

(3) For the best results from spraying first prize, $30 to Rev. Nathaniel B. Fiske of Danvers (orchard in Stoneham), second prize, $20 to the Drew-Munson Fruit Co., Harold L. Frost, treasurer, of Littleton. The judges took into consideration the previous condition of the orchards, the improvement shown in cultivation of trees, yield and net profits resulting.

The first three classes were shown by the seven winners of the contestants and the awards were made by the committee on examination of these statements.

The second class was won by Michael Yourell, the late Mary Yourell, and was well known in the baseball world, having played with numerous teams of this section. Delegations were present from Weymouth Council, Knights of Columbus and Div. 3, A. O. H. of which Mr. Yourell was a member. The many friends of the deceased showed their regard for him by many costly and beautiful floral designs. Mrs. Yourell was thirty three years of age and at the time of his death resided with his sister, Mrs. Henry Mens of Centre White.

AMERICAN EXPRESS CHEQUES FOR SALE.

Your "Snowshoes" for this Winter

It's time now to buy your heavy winter shoes.

Let them be good and strong. See that they have heavy soles, proof against mud, snow and icy streets.

They must turn aside the stinging arrows of Jack Frost and keep your feet warm and comfortable.

But see that these shoes are smooth inside.

You Have Only to Get the GOODYEAR WELT

Buy your shoes, purchase on the Goodyear Welt.

It is the patented basis of more than five hundred different trade-mark shoes.

Go to your retailer. Ask to be shown the new "Goodyear Welt."

You request for these famous welt stamps you as one who knows the best practice in shoe making.

You will show how the Goodyear Welt machine has done its work.

How the sole and upper are first stitched to a narrow strip of leather running around the shoe.

How the heavy outer sole is stitched to the welt, leaving all seams on the outside — the inside is left smooth.

Indiscretion is a robber with a dagger in his cloak.

The man whose God is money never has any mercy on himself.

No matter how much a woman loves her husband she just can't help hating him now and then.

Most of us forget that how a man parts his principles is much more important than how he parts his hair.

Geraldine— You haven't been to see me since you asked my father to be here.

Gerald— No, this is the first time I've been able to get about.

The man who cannot laugh does not know what it means to live.

To the joker who writes jokes for a living it isn't much of a joke when the editor can't take a joke. —Lippincott's.

Miss Homelie— Perhaps you won't believe me, but a strange man tried to kiss me once.

Miss Cutting— Really? Well he'd have been a strange man if he tried to kiss you twice.

His BIGGEST MISTAKE.

What was the biggest mistake you ever made?

Thinking I was too foxy to make a big mistake. —Cleveland Leader.

DOMESTIC DISSES.

Mrs. Hooper (in newspaper)—It says here that buttermilk will extend one's life over to over a hundred.

Hooper— It's a bachelorette's life.

Mrs. Homelie— Perhaps you won't believe me, but a strange man tried to kiss me once.

Miss Cutting— Really? Well he'd have been a strange man if he tried to kiss you twice.

Scott's Rhyme of Merry Christmas

Deep in snow wood! The wind is cold and sharp!
But let it whistle as it will,
We'll keep our Christmas merrily still.

Each year has deemed the newborn
Year.

The first time for restal cheer,
And well our Christmas trees of old

Loved when the year its course had rolled.

—And brings blithe Christmas back again
With all his hospitable train.

Domestic and religious rite
Give honor to the holy night.

On Christmas eve the bells were rung;
On Christmas eve the mass was sung;

That out might in all the year.

San the stoled priest the chalice rear

The chalice dinned with holy wine;

At Mrs. Nelly Ford's home so

To gather in the mystic train.

Then opened wide the Baron's hall

To vassal, tenant, serf and all;

The Flu-de-Siecle whilst club met one evening at the home of Miss Helen Bass on Pleasant street. The prizes were taken by Miss Leon Pratt and Mr. Elmer

Thayer. Then meeting is to be held at December 12 in the Engg. Library. The subject for the evening was "The National Defense." The papers read were "The Preparedness Demanded by Conditions of Present Day Warfare," J. F. Vining,

"Our Need of a Powerful Navy," P. H.

Tirell; "Our Organized Militia, Its

Strength and Needs," R. E. Moon. Readings

from "Massachusetts in the Civil War,"

Mrs. W. A. Wagner; and "War preparations in the North," Mrs. J. F. Vining. The discussion "Should Service in the Militia for a Limited Time be Required by Law" was led by F. G. Bauer and H. H.

Longellow.

Orphans' Hope Lodge, A. F. and A. M.

At the regular meeting of orphans Hope Lodge, A. F. and A. M., held in Masonic building, East Weymouth, Wednesday evening, the following collects were installed for the ensuing year:

Wor. Bro. Gardner J. W., Wor. Bro. Frank D. Tandy, Pres.; Wor. Bro. T. J. Evans, Sec.; Wor. Bro. M. E. Hawes, Chaplain; J. D. E. Edgell, R. Thompson, S. S.; John Taylor, J. S. Birrell, Wm. M. Grindall; William B. Godley, J. S.; Jason M. Brooks, Tyler.

The installing officer was Wor. Bro. Lewiss W. Bates and he had an able assistant in Wor. Bro. Walter E. Gitterman, Past Master of Delta Lodge as Marshal.

Miss Olive J. Dowd.

Tidings of death have rarely brought greater or more general sorrow than the news of Monday evening of the death of Miss Olive J. Dowd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dowd, at her home, 252 Washington street. Although she had been ill for a week, her death came unexpectedly.

She was a very popular young lady and had a host of friends. She was a graduate of the class of 1909 Weymouth High School, later took a course at a Boston school and on graduating from that institution, took a position as stenographer with a Boston business house which she held at the time of her illness. Death was 19 years old Friday last.

The members of her class at the Weymouth High School called at her home in a body Wednesday evening and paid their respects to her deceased classmate.

The handsome casket containing the remains was almost hidden from view by the beautiful floral offerings from friends which testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

Miss Dowd was a teacher in the Kindergarten of the Sunday School of the Sacred Heart church and among the handsome floral tributes was one from the children of the school.

Mourning relatives, friends and class mates gathered in large numbers to pay a last tribute to her memory at the funeral services held at the home of her parents Thursday morning at 8:15 o'clock and at the church of the Sacred Heart at 9:30 o'clock. Solemn High Mass was celebrated by Rev. J. B. Holland, pastor of the church with Rev. John J. Conroy of Quincy, Deacon and Rev. W. J. Dunn of West Quincy, sub-deacon. At the close of the Mass, Father Holland spoke briefly of the esteem in which the departed was held, and death which is sad at anytime is especially so at Christmas time.

The bearers were Dr. Walter J. Whean, Leo J. Dowd, Bernard Gonville, Thomas McCarthy, William Dwyer and Fred Nolan. The interment was at St. Francis Xavier cemetery.

Monday Club.

The Monday club met on January 19 at Old Fellow's Hall. The Hon. Arthur K. Peck of Boston gave an illustrated lecture on the "Piano Play at Christmas." The lecture described the history, customs and manners of living of the people in this obscure little mountain town in Germany who draw to them every ten years, cultivated musicians and cultured people from nearly all countries of the globe, to hear and see simple-hearted homes and peasant men, women and children to the number of six hundred, re-enact the tragic occurrences of the last week in the life of Christ.

The slides, one hundred and fifty in all, were made from photographs, taken by Mr. Peck in Oberammergau and colored by an artist who faithfully reproduced even the shades of color of the costumes worn by the actors. The faces of the men, women and even the little children attest to the atmosphere of centuries of rigours living for it is the highest ambition in the life of an Oberammergau to take part in the Passion Play and no one of reputation can ever become an actor. The pictures, however, the lively scenes, and pleasant little domestic scenes from every day life of the village, relieved the strain of interest, produced by the narration of the drama.

At the next meeting of the club on January 2, Marshal Harragh will recite "Twelfth Night." Mr. Harragh is considered to be the most brilliant and magnetic interpreter of Shakespeare, now upon the lecture platform.

Weymouth Historical Society.

The Weymouth Historical Society will meet at the Fogg Library, South Weymouth, on Wednesday, December 23rd, at 8 o'clock p.m. At this meeting, Judge Louis A. Cook will read an address on Miles Standish, by the late Judge Putnam.

WEYMOUTH GAZETTE

AND TRANSCRIPT

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY BY THE

Gazette and Transcript Publishing Co.

WEYMOUTH, MASS.

Editor and Manager.

Telephone 145, Weymouth.

Subscription Price $2.00 per year in advance.

Postage Weymouth Office: Washburn Block, corner of Broad and Shawmut Streets.

Entered in the Post Office at Weymouth Mass., as Second Class Matter.

FRIDAY, DEC. 30, 1910.

The Gazette & Transcript is printed and mailed Friday afternoon, and is for sale at all news-stands in the Weymouth and at the South Terminal, Boston.

All communications must be accompanied with the name of the writer, and unprinted communications cannot be returned to mail unless stamps are enclosed.

Notices of all local entertainments to which admission fees are charged must be paid for at regular rates, 10 cents per line in the reading matter, or regular rates in the advertising columns.

We are under the necessity of calling the attention of correspondents and advertisers to the fact that we are very limited as to the amount of matter we can take Friday morning. By the new time of delivery from the Post office we must get in earlier to make this a Saturday morning paper to our readers, and we do not propose to do that, as much of the stuff which comes to us Thursday afternoon and Friday morning may just as well have been here earlier in the week.

Obituary, John Roachman.

John Roachman was born in Methuen, April 16, 1840. When a young man he came to North Weymouth where he has since resided and the larger part of the time his home has been in the Hardinge house at the corner of See and Bridge streets. Shortly before enlisting in the war, he was married to Miss Amelia Hardinge who passed to the higher life twenty years ago. Mr. Roachman was in the Civil War, belonging to Co. H of the 35th Regiment.

After an illness of several weeks, death came on Sunday, December 18, at Grace Hospital, Boston. Funeral services were held in the chapel connected with Jones' Undertaking rooms on La Grange street, Boston on Friday of last week and interment was at the North Weymouth cemetery. Mr. Roachman leaves a son, W. A. Roachman, and a grandson, Marshall Roachman of Lincoln, Nebraska.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The Senior Physics class have been experimenting with the process of radiation.

The Senior class held a meeting in Room 6, last Monday, and choose the following committee for a class dance: — William Watt, Carl Prather, Stuart Vinal, Paul MacEwan and Laura Batchelder.

The committee then retired to another room, and decided on the 20th for the dance and to have Maxine's orchestra furnish the music.

The Junior class have closed their order for class pins.

The Senior German class gave a very enjoyable afternoon's entertainment to the members of the Senior class and teachers in the gymnasium, at the school, last Wednesday afternoon. At one end of the room was a large Christmas tree which was loaded with presents. Santa Claus (Thomas McCarthy) gave out a present to everybody. The afternoon was spent in playing games. Refreshments were served.

The Senior English class has taken up the study of Latin.

The school gymnasium was opened last week for practice by the school team. The boys played very well together and a good team is expected.

The school was closed last Friday noon for the annual Christmas vacation and will be re-opened January 2, 1911.

Old Colony Club.

The annual Children's Day of the Old Colony Club was given in Fogg's Opera House Thursday afternoon, December 22. It was under the direction of Miss Louise Merritt and was one of the best entertainments ever given in the opera house. The work was all done by children from different parts of the town and consisted of songs, dances, recitations and tableau. The young people all did beautifully and every number was fully appreciated by the large audience present.

The next meeting of the club will be held January 12, and will be a lecture written and given by one of the club members, Mrs. Mason C. Easterbrook. Her subject will be "The England of Shakespeare."

DON'T EXPERIMENT.

You Will Make No Mistake If You Follow This Weymouth Citizen's Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys. If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are all symptoms of kidney trouble, and you should seek a remedy which is known to cure the kidneys.

Don's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use. No need to experiment. It has cured many stubborn cases in Weymouth. Follow the advice of a Weymouth citizen and be cured yourself.

Mrs. O. Binney, 10 Norfolk street, Weymouth, Mass., says: "I was a victim of backache for ten years and I spent a small fortune for medicine and doctors' treatments, but grew worse each year. I had heard a number of people say that Don's Kidney Pills had cured them of backache and I finally procured a supply at George R. Kemp's Drug Store. I had not quite finished the contents before I noticed a decided change for the better, and by the time I had used five boxes, I had nothing whatever to complain of. I give credit for this great improvement solely to the use of Don's Kidney Pills."

For sale by dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milligan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Don's—and take no other.

Fiftieth Anniversary.

The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Willard J. Dunbar of East Weymouth as celebrated in the Methodist church last Friday night was a no go to 1000 but it was a solid "Golden Wedding" from start to finish.

The vestry of the church where the reception and other events took place was elaborately decorated for the occasion and people came from all parts of Weymouth and many other places with congratulations and costly gifts.

There were two in the receiving line Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar, son Charlie W. and the little grandson, Francis Willard.

The ushers were Rev. G. G. Scrivener,

Wm. P. Denbroeder, Wallace White,

Carl E. Hale, Wm. H. Pratt, Lewis W.

Bates and Clayton B. Merchant and Maxim's orchestra.

Bates & Weymouth catered with a large variety of ices and cake and Mrs. Wm. P. Denbroeder and Mrs. J. H. Libby, presided at a table of punch and hot cocoas.

As we have said choice gifts were brought and one in particular came from the citizens at large with a presentation speech by Dr. Joseph Chase Jr., to which Mr. Dunbar responded for himself and wife.

Another interesting feature of the evening was a poem written for the occasion and read by Mr. Shreve and which we present in full.

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

It was very near to Xmas. Just fifty years ago.

Will Mary and Willard J.

Will they each other's wife...

...was on a Sunday morning.

When things were all a'blow,

That they were married quietly,

And then to church did go.

If you'll wander back with me

To the customs of that time,

You'll find the mid-week singing-school

A place to go.

Here all the hats and bonnets came

And took up their proper seat

And put into each other's ears

The chords of music sweet.

The weather then was just the same

As weather is today.

At masked fair with golden hair

Were both to travel in the rain.

With Willard's coat she'd more mare.

But Willard's folks had such a team

As anyлас in town might seem

Fall glad to be behind old Bill.

But Mary French said, with disdain,

She'll rather travel in the rain

Than ride with such a rascal.

But Willard had true sporting blood

And Mary French was more mare.

Engaged soon upon his face

Was bound to do his duty.

Persistently and patiently

He wood this maid so coy;

On day, so once disengaged,

The next instant with joy.

As happens as could be

And then she smiled, and Willard

He just danced in ecstasy.

And so went, first joy, then pain,

Till Willard, most tormented,

Said, "Will I set this down to Old Spain,

Before I get demented."

He dressed up in his Sunday best;

No swain had ever looked grander

But when he reached his sweetheart's

His thoughts began to wander.

The maid, to help him in his quest,

Said, "Willard, why so sombre?"

And Willard—well, you know the rest;

Suffice to say, he won her.

And then, together hand in hand,

They stood before the Elder.

And here the minister made his solemn pledge

To love, obey and honor.

And so long, the trumpet call was heard

And onward to the right?

And Willard joined the boys in blue

For freedom and for right.

At length the war was over.

Its horror and its shame!

A loving wife and loyal friends

Would bring him home again.

The only son has graced this home

But if you're well acquainted there,

You know Charlie all the better.

Now Charlie, grown to be a man,

Decided he must wed,

For he had seen a pretty face,

That turned his steady head.

A grandson came to grace the hoard

But you should see that grandpa

When they named him P. Willard.

Five good years have now rolled by

Of service and renown

And to the world he's spent

At Weymouth Weymouth.

And so the friends who gathered here

May few of them are missed.

We may not hear their voices

Raised in this your day of bliss,

But memory touching down the years

Is glad for friends so dear

So, to their memory, raise a song

For the sake of Old Lang Syne.

And so the moment must come

When you look in the face

Of this young man with his grace

And to the world he's spent

At Weymouth Weymouth.

And so the friends who gathered here

May few of them are missed.

We may not hear their voices
